M. FERNANDEZ,

THE COOKE LIBRARY AT OAHU COLLEGE.

Then, addressing the audience, Mr. Damon said:

Mr. Damon's Address.

Ladies and Gentlemen: It affords me the very greatest pleasure, on behalf of the board of trustees of Oahu College, to accept this monumental gift of our friends, Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Cooke. It is a source of the greatest satisfaction to the corporation that they (and with them I think I may include all the members of their famiies), have been led to rear, for the benefit of us all, this beautiful building; to add so generously to the literary treasures of this library; and to place here certain works of art, which cannot ! fail to be a help and inspiration.

Emerson somewhere reminds us that The sedge papyrus, which gave its name to our word paper, is of more importance to history than cotion, or silver, or gold." It is well for humanity, however, that it has, in our age, the generous backing of steel, iron, sugar and other important agents. The rearing of libraries all over the world marks the dawn of that large and altruistic age, upon which we have undoubtedly entered, when men and women, blest with means, rejoice in the privilege of sharing the same with others. It is a gracious and worthy act of Mr. and Mrs. Cooke to remember of Punahou, present and former patrons, The superintendence of the library is R. GOSLING, K. of R. & S. so bountifully their alma mater and we and literary, scientific and equeational in the hands of Mr. Reese, an edu-WILLIAM MCKINLEY LODGE NO. 8. so bountifully their aims mater and we workers in the city, and others comcated and accomplished librarian, assisted by Miss Doris Girdler, a recent the institution, to whose development

Peculiarly fitting is it that "led by a little child" we should enter this portal Petrarch, "if my mind had longer been and teachable spirit be ours and then shall the blessing surely follow! It is the desire of the corporation immediately connected with this institution. It may in a word be said that it is the intention to adopt a liberal policy with reference to the use of the books here gathered. Former students BABIES AND CHILDREN should be fairly plump. They ought to put on fat as fast as they use it up; for fat is fuel, and the burning of it makes power and force. Thin childreneven along to the age of eighteen or twenty-are in danger from consumption, and from other wasting complaints. The children who starve, and the young men and women who are consumed-why, the very idea of it is frightful. For such as they, there is always what is called a "mighty famine" in the land. Food, though it may be taken plentifully, does not nourish them. It makes no fat; it gives no strength. To prevent this, to cure this, to save the young ones at the mother's knees, and the bright boys and girls who are just looking at the world with ambitious eyes, is the purpose of WAMPOLE'S PREPARATION Its success is decided and settled. Thousands owe to it life and health. It is palatable as honey and contains all the curative properties of pure Cod Liver Oil, extracted by us from fresh cod livers, combined with the Compound Syrup of Hypo-phosphites and the Extracts of Malt and Wild Cherry. In building up pale, puny, emaciated children, particularly those troubled with Anemia, Scrofula, Rickets, and bone and blood discases, nothing equals it; its tonic qualities are of the highest order. A Medical Institution says: "We have used your preparation in treating children for coughs, colds and inflammation; its application has never failed us in any case, even the most aggravated bordering on pneumonia. The children like it, and it builds up their bodies; many little children owe their lives to it." Effective from the first pointed in it." Sold by chemists.

MR. DAMON'S ADDRESS.

may take advantage freely of the privileges of the library.

We have had come down to us the following anecdote of Petrarch, the great pared. of Carvaillon, Petrarch's friend, in a playful experiment, locked up the poet's library, intending to exclude him from it for three days, but the poet's misery caused him to restore the key on the first evening." "And I verily believe I should have become insane," says

That we may be spared so serious an ending, I hasten now to use these keys, which have been today intrusted to the that the benefits of this library should trustees, to open, in their name, the be shared by others, as well as those | doors of the Cooke Library, asking you all to follow, since

"Life thrills along the alcoved hall; The Lords of thought await our call.' The Library Is Opened.

Upon the conclusion of the address.

Mr. Damon, with little Carolene's as-

of the library. Passing within, the trustees and their wives held an informal reception of the visiting friends, and the building was inspected from basement to upper book rack. The splendid building added yesterday to the educative plant at Punahou has cost, with its furniture and equipment, the sum of $42,300. There still remains in the hands of the building committee the sum of $2500 of the total donation by Mr. and Mrs. Cooke, which is $44,800. In addition to the building, the generous donors have placed $10,000 at the disposal of the trustees for books. Of this amount $6000 has been spent, leaving $4000 yet to be invested. The selection of books is being made with great care, the object sought being to create a wellrounded-out, working library, which will meet the requirements of all branches of the institution. There are now 12,000 books and 3000 unbound pamphlets and documents on the shelves. The total capacity of the building is 40,000 volumes. As if the foregoing were not enough, Mr. and Mrs. Cooke have also presented to the library a splendid painting of "The Last Supper." It is a copy of one of the most famous paintings in the world. The original is in the great cathedral at Milan, Italy, and was painted by Leonardo da Vinci. The original picture is 30x12 feet in size. The copy is about half that size. It was painted by special order of Mr. Cooke, when recently in Europe.

Following in the footsteps of their parents, Mr. Clarence H. Cooke has presented the library with a fine bronze statue of a lion, and Theodore Cooke has donated a handsome bronze Japanese hibachi. To the unitiated, it looks like a large and handsome jardiniere, and it yesterday served that purpose admirably, containing a young palm. A copy of Alexander's series of six pic tures, "The Evolution of the Book." the originals of which are in the Congressional Library, also ornament the walls. They were given by the graduating class last year.

The library building is of blue lava rock, one story and a basement, with metal racks for books and oak tables and chairs.

The building was designed by A. L. Kerr and erected under contract by John Ouderkirk, under the supervision of W. L. Emory. It is a credit to designer, contractor and supervisor.

A most liberal policy has been decided upon, by the trustees of the college, in connection with the use of the library by the general public. Any responsible person can, on application, secure a membership card, entitling him to the use of the library, subject to the rules and regulations.
